JAMES HAMPTON KUYKENDALL

James Hampton Kuykendall, son of Captain Abner Kuykendall and Gates (daughter of William Gates) was born in either Arkansas or Kentucky, about 1820. His parents and grandparents Gates were Austin Colonists and came to Texas in 1821, being the second families to arrive in Texas. Captain Abner and his brothers Robert and Joseph were prominent in the Colony and its leading soldiers. (Texas 1834 unnumbered H R 1/3 L Austin.)

When the Texas Revolution began, James Hampton Kuykendall was visiting in Mexico. Learning of the trouble he returned overland to Texas with a companion named Pantaleon, and reached Goliad, February 15, 1836, after a five days journey from Matamoras. He gave Colonel Fannin detailed information concerning the movements and plans of the Mexicans (Lamar I - 332). After a rest at Goliad "Young Kuykendall" proceeded to San Felipe, where he arrived prior to February 20. He then went to his home where he immediately enrolled as a private in Captain Robert McNutt's company, of which his brother, Gibson Kuykendall, was lieutenant.

McNutt's company took up the line of march on March 1, 1836, and next day formed a junction with Captain Moseley Baker's company. They encountered other companies en route to Gonzales, where they formed parts of General Houston's army. James Hampton Kuykendall has left published accounts of the campaign which culminated in the Battle of San Jacinto. (Wade's Fayette County 126-137; Tex. Hist. Quart. Vol. p. ).
Prior to the Battle of San Jacinto, Gibson Kuykendall became the company captain. This company marched as far as Harrisburgh where it was left to guard the baggage, which it was engaged in doing at the time the Battle of San Jacintos fought. On June 21, 1838, James Hampton Kuykendall was issued Donation Certificate No. 360 for 640 acres for his services at Harrisburg. He remained in the army until October 1, 1838, as a member of Captain H. N. Cleveland's company of Mill Creek Volunteers.

Kuykendall represented Austin County in the lower House of the Sixth Congress of the Republic.

On June 11, 1851, he became editor of the "Texas Monument" published at La Grange, and remained in that capacity until September of that year. In the announcement of his editorship it is stated that he had been in Texas for thirty years. Kuykendall appears to have been connected with the newspaper business during many periods of his life. In 1874 he was living in Rockport, where at one time he edited a newspaper. He was living in Victoria on November 21, 1879, when he received his veterans' donation certificate for 1280 acres of land.

In 1881 or 1882 he was employed to transcribe the records of Refugio County and was engaged in this work when he died at Refugio in March, 1882. Judge Lyman B. Russel, an octogenarian, now living at Comanche, Texas, writes:

"I knew 'Uncle Hamp' Kuykendall while he was transcribing the Spanish records at Refugio, but I really know very little about his antecedents. He died before the job was done. I helped bury him, but the conditions were unfortunate. A record-breaking rise in Mission River prevented our laying him away with Masonic or religious rites, as the only available burial ground was the Catholic Cemetery on the hill west of town, and we had to choose a location outside of consecrated grounds and no ceremonies were permitted. The waters of the flood almost lapped the cemetery's lower boundary line.

"At the time of his death he was alone. I fail to recall certainly whether he even had a family."

According to the late William L. Kuykendall, J. P., nephew of James Hampton Kuykendall:

"Captain Abner Kuykendall had ten children, eight sons and two daughters. Five of the sons were, William, Gibson, Barzallai, Robert, and James Hampton. William Kuykendall came to Refugio County about 1853."

"James Hampton Kuykendall was a member of the First Texas Congress from an East Texas county. He was at the Battle of San Jacinto. He was engaged to marry a young woman when he was a young man. Thesweetheart died and he never married. He died in Refugio in Larch, 1882, and is buried in the hackberry mott outside of the Catholic Cemetery at Refugio."

My dear Colonel Kemp:

I would appreciate it if you would send me anything that you have on James Hampton Kuykendall, who was a member of the Congress of the Republic, and who died at Refugio in 1882. We have located his grave and have a movement on foot to rebuild the vault and mark same, and I would like for the marking to be authentic. James Hampton Kuykendall was a son of Abner Kuykendall, and was one of the men left at Harrisburg. I will thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

I received your preliminary sketch on Colonel James Power and John White Bower. The sketch on John White Bower is about in line, but the one on Col. Power omits several interesting phases of his life. I have revised these sketches and will mail them to you tomorrow.

Very truly yours,
