TRASK, OWLYN J. - Arrived in Texas at sometime between May 2, 1835 and March 2, 1836. In the headright certificate issued in his name and delivered to his heirs by the Harrisburg Board of Land Commissioners May 3, 1836 it is stated that he came to Texas before March 2, 1836. Had he arrived prior to May 2, 1835 it would have been so stated in the certificate.

Mr. Trask was born in Essex County, Massachusetts, a son of Israel Trask. He was a member of Captain William H. Smith's Cavalry Company and was mortally wounded in the skirmish of April 29th. On page ___ of Wooten's Comprehensive History of Texas Mr. Moses Austin Bryant states that Mr. Trask had this thigh bone broken. In the sketch of the San Jacinto campaign written by Dr. Nicholas Labadie, who ministered to Mr. Trask, and published in the Texas Almanac of ___ he stated on page ___ that Mr. Trask was conveyed to Galveston on the boat with President Burnet and others and there died about three weeks later. On a joint monument erected in 1881 on the battlefield at the graves of those who fell in the battle, Mr. Trask's name is included among those buried there.

On page 394, Book A of the Deed Records of Harris County, it is shown that on November 2, 1837, Frances J. S. Trask, a sister of Owlyn, was living at Independence, Washington County, Texas, and was on that day appointed representative of Israel Trask of Massachusetts, who was heir to the property of his deceased son.

Thomas S. S. Trask, brother of Owlyn and attorney for his estate, appeared before the Board of Land Commissioners of Harrisburg May 3, 1838 and made application for the one-third of a league of land Owlyn J. Trask was entitled to receive. Donation Certificate No. 92 for 640 acres of land due Mr. Trask's services at San Jacinto was issued to his heirs, in his name, May 15, 1838.
The following is copied from an affidavit made by Israel Trask in New Orleans, November 22, 1837, and recorded in the Book J, Deed Records of Fayette County:

Note: Miss Emma F. Larkin, a descendant of early Trask family.
There was no attack after the morning attack by the Mexicans until Sherman made the attempt to capture the Mexican's twelve-pounder long brass cannon; several horses were killed and wounded, and Trask had his thigh-bone broken, and afterwards died.
